Dear Members, Colleagues and Friends,

With many sectors of the economy now reopening, it is important that the correct guidance is given to each and every one of you within the dance genres that sit under the umbrella of the British Dance Council. The United Kingdom is at many different levels of lockdown and we acknowledge that situation.

Please be reassured that the British Dance Council are working diligently to give the clearest information we can, working from the Government guidelines, as to when dance studios, dance clubs and dance schools are legally allowed to reopen.

We understand the frustration especially at this present time. We will continue to give guidance as soon as its received.

Keep safe, keep well and we will keep dancing,

Yours sincerely,

Marcus Hilton
